DR. DALES DEFENDS POLICE ACTIVITIES

Cases Will Double In Year - Magistrate

Warden Corner Warns Constables Of Closer Check

Unlocking the door with a borrowed key, Magistrate W. F. Woodliffe formally opened the new police offices in the basement of the town hall on Tuesday afternoon.

Earlier the town council entertained court and county officials at lunch at the King George hotel. Reeve Dr. L. W. Dales presided. Head table guests were Douglas Lucas, county solicitor, P. W. Pearson, ex-warden, H. R. Polson, assistant inspector of legal offices, Magistrate W. F. Woodliffe, Morgan Baker, M.L.A., N. L. Mathews, K.C., crown attorney, R. H. Corner, warden.

Members of the council present were Dr. Dales, Deputy-Reeve Joseph Vale, Councillors W. W. Osborne, A. D. Evans, Frank Robinson and William Dixon.

Other guests included Reeve J. P. Jefferson, King, Reeve Earl Toole, Whitchurch, Reeve Stanley Osborne, East Gwillimbury, Reeve James Rennie, Markham, Deputy-Reeve Boynton Weldrick, Vaughan, Reeve Wm. Pugsley, Sutton, W. W. Gardhouse, county treasurer, Ernest Sprague, superintendent of county home, Allan Mills, court clerk, Miss Shirley Lawson, magistrate's secretary, and the following constables, James Sloss and Kenneth Mount, Newmarket; Corporal Conniff and Constable Hayward, R. C. M. P.; Alex. Ferguson, provincial; Joseph Jardine, East Gwillimbury; Dan Williamson, Whitechurch; Ernest Daniels, Markham; Carl Morton, North Gwillimbury; Sandy McCallum, King; Archie Shadwick, Sutton; Fisher Dunham and Aubrey Fleury, Aurora; Ronald Watt, Wm. Martindale, Sergeant Sidney Barraclough, county.

"Some of you may have an idea that someone is getting more than his share of revenue," said Dr. Dales at the luncheon. "I can assure you that that is not so."

"I haven't any doubt as to the future of the court," said Morgan Baker, M.L.A. "It is growing and will continue to grow."

"It is a great expense for people to have to go to Toronto," said Warden Harry Corner. "The police cells and police court will be a wonderful satisfaction to the people of the north."

Mr. Corner uttered a warning to the county police that there was going to be a closer check-up on their activities henceforward.

"The cells are excellent," he said. "I haven't seen any better in the province for a place this size. I congratulate you on the wonderful improvement and the excellent court accommodation."

Introducing N. L. Mathews, K.C., crown attorney, Dr. Dales said: "He is a hard worker. He doesn't get anything he doesn't deserve. His integrity is above question. He has great ability."

"The court is indeed fortunate in the choice of a magistrate," said Mr. Mathews. "Newmarket gets only $20 a month for rent of the town hall, and $5 for stationery, that the other municipalities do not get, and that doesn't begin to cover the cost."

Dr. Dales introduced P. W. Pearson as "one of the greatest organizers Newmarket has ever had."

A. D. Evans, chairman of the property committee, introduced by Dr. Dales as the man who had charge of the building of the new offices, paid tribute to the late George Williams, who, he said, had wanted to attend this opening.

Stating that there had been 946 cases in the first year, Magistrate Woodliffe prophesied that the business of the court would be doubled by next year.

County constables would be able to take prisoners to Newmarket instead of to the city at night, said the magistrate, and the new offices would be a place where people could lay complaints.

He also suggested adoption of radio in Newmarket for police work, an office for the magistrate and a raised platform for the magistrate and the witnesses.

HOLIDAYS

Douglas Doherty of the Bank of Toronto staff is spending two weeks holidays in Kitchener.

BUILDING RENOVATED

Extensive alterations are being made to the building of Roadhouse & Rose. There will be an attractive new front, with a rearrangement of the first floor to provide for a modern funeral home with a chapel, with furniture display rooms at the back on both the first and second floors. The living quarters on the second floor will also be renovated.

POISON IVY IS FOUND IN TOWN

There are lots of weeds in the town that should be cut, Reeve Dr. L. W. Dales told the town council on Monday evening.

"There is a grand case of poison ivy on Charles St.," said Councillor Wm. Dixon. "It should be cleaned up. It has been reported to Constable Sloss."

"Just give them a little chance and they will get it cleaned up," said Dr. Dales.

LIFE'S NOBLEST QUEST

"Money is the crudest standard of our society, but I wouldn't say anything against it, for it is necessary," said S. Archibald Smith, principal emeritus of the Brooklyn Friends school at Pickering College on Saturday evening in the last of a series of addresses at the yearly meeting of Friends of Ontario. His subject was: "Life's Noblest Quest."

"The worst of money is its segregating effect," said Mr. Smith. "If you accumulate money, you are to some extent separated from other people. Money can buy great literature, but it cannot buy an understanding of it. Do not despise rich men and riches in themselves, for consider our great libraries, many of which owe their existence to wealthy men."

"Many wealthy men regard life as a trusteeship. They have got much out of life and they have put much back into it. All honor to them."

"Many people spend a great deal of time and money to be admitted into society, to sit down with the duly accredited members of the 400."

"Whosoever would be great among you, let him be servant of all," Ruskin tells how Turner took down one of his great paintings at an exhibition so that there might be space for the picture of a lesser artist. Ruskin says that story should be told in heaven. That is humility.

"That habit of passing on to someone else the blame for our own shortcomings is an old one. It began in the Garden of Eden."

"That is why Shakespeare is a great dramatist. He is always representing man as having it out with himself. 'The fault, dear Brutus, is not in our stars but in ourselves that we be underlings.' Man is the architect of his own soul. 'The kingdom of heaven is within you.'"

"Lay not up for yourselves treasure on earth, but lay up treasure in heaven; that is, within yourself. It matters not if we come to the end of life with empty hands, if along the way we have caught a vision of the meaning of life."

Cheque For $1,000 Given To Town For Fair Grounds

Promise Of J. O. Little To Council Fulfilled Monday

A $1,000 cheque from Fred M. Orpen, Toronto racing man, was handed to the town council by J. O. Little, ex-warden of the county, on Monday evening.

"Mr. Orpen gave the money in fulfillment of a promise made by his father before his father's death," Mr. Little said.

The cheque was designated for use at the fair grounds.

"That's a very wonderful thing," said Mayor Dr. S. J. Boyd. "That shows you what friendship leads to."

"I met him only twice," replied Mr. Little.

"Mrs. Orpen was a Srigley," said W. W. Osborne. "Srigley St. is named after them."

"His father had told him that he had been asked for the gift," said Mr. Little. "But Mr. Fred Orpen didn't know the amount. If I might make a suggestion, it would be that we call that park Srigley Park. The park has no name."

"That's a good suggestion," said Dr. Boyd.

Mr. Little reminded the council that an opening of the new grandstand was to take place on July 14.

Resolutions of appreciation were passed, one to be sent to Mr. Orpen and one concerning Mr. Little's part in securing the gift.

PAY RESPECT TO FELLOW MEMBER

Members of the town council observed one minute's silence at a meeting Monday evening as a mark of respect for George Williams, member of the council who died on Sunday. A resolution of sympathy was sent to Mrs. Williams.

HOMES HEAVILY IN DEBT WILL BE AUCTIONED

Town Council Decides On Tax Sale Of Properties In Fall

A tax sale will be held this fall, it was decided at a town council meeting on Monday evening.

Councillor Arthur Evans asked for a list of properties belonging to the town or not paying taxes. He believed that there were people in town ready to buy some of these properties. He suggested a tax sale.

"Perhaps a tax sale this year would be a good idea," said Mayor Dr. S. J. Boyd.

"I think it would," replied N. L. Mathews, K. C., clerk and solicitor.

"How long would it take?" asked the mayor.

"It would have to be advertised three months," said Mr. Mathews.

The business assessment of Anthony Wolfe for 1937 was reduced to $500, on motion of Reeve Dr. L. W. Dales and Deputy-Reeve Joseph Vale.

Dramatic Comeback Almost Turns Trick

Redmen Take Score From 10-1 In Fourth To 13-12 In Final

By FRED THOMPSON

In a hard-hitting game of softball played Monday evening, the Richmond Hill boys out-hit the locals and ended up on the long end of a 13-12 score. This game had everything in it and was as good as a circus, being thoroughly enjoyed by a large crowd.

The Hill boys started out as if they were going to make a runaway affair of it and in the fourth inning had the locals on the short end of a 10-1 score.

Niles started on the mound for the Redmen, but was replaced by Webster in the third inning but the boys from the south showed no mercy on big Alex either, pounding his offerings to all corners of the lot. In the meantime, Ted Bennett was pitching great ball for the Hill and the locals couldn't seem to get going.

In the fourth inning the Reds garnered four runs to add to the single they got in the first. Trivett opened the inning by singling to centre, and Tunney beat out a hit to short. Cunningham popped out and Peters walked. Big Bill Burkholder then socked a home run down the right field line, clearing the sacks. That ended the scoring game.

HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY PLANS FLOWER SHOW

There will be a flower show, held by the Horticultural society, with classes of delphiniums, lilies, roses, sweetpeas, etc., in the school room of the Christian church, on Saturday, July 9. This show is open to the public during the afternoon and evening.

But the big thrill came in the last of the ninth inning when the score read 13-9. Trivett again started things off by doubling to left. Joe Tunney beat out a bunt and Charlie Cunningham cleared the bases with a long homer to centre field. But the next three men went down in order, leaving the locals one run short of tying things up.

There was a good crowd out to the game but there is always room for more. The admission price is only ten cents and I know no other place where so much entertainment can be gotten for that sum, thrills, spills, drama and all. See you next game.

J. R. Y. Broughton, Senior Merchant, Sells Business

Was Well-Known Once As Bradford Lacrosse Player

Senior business man on Main St., J. R. Y. Broughton, this week turned his business over to Chester Best, Toronto, who has been in charge of Carnahan's two Yonge St. stores.

Mr. Broughton has been in business 42 years. He came here from Bradford, where his father, H. S. Broughton, was editor of the South Simcoe News and postmaster. Mr. Broughton served his apprenticeship with T. Edmanson, Bradford, first maker and distributor in Canada of Dr. Chase's remedies.

Mrs. Broughton was formerly Alma Strong of Bradford. While in Bradford Mr. Broughton was an outstanding lacrosse player, in the heyday of the game. After coming to Newmarket he became an enthusiastic curler, and in his younger days was prominent in arranging and supervising sporting events on holidays.

He is an enthusiastic water sportsman and has on Lake Simcoe a fast motorboat, from whose tiller he expects to get a great deal of satisfaction in the years of leisure before him.

Mr. Broughton has been a member of the public school board and of the town council, and is chairman of the board of health of which he has been a member for years and years. Mr. Broughton has been treasurer of Trinity United church recently, and was formerly a gifted member of Trinity choir. He has also been treasurer of North York Liberal Association.

He succeeded in business here James Kelman, father-in-law of T. F. Doyle, dean of Newmarket business men, although not as a merchant in his own business.

The mantle of senior merchant on Main St. has been successively held by John Millard, John Roadhouse, Lyman George Jackson, and Mr. Broughton. It is believed that it will now pass to W. A. Wright who opened business in 1898, shortly after Mr. Broughton.

Mr. Broughton was secretary of the now defunct board of trade and still handles correspondence addressed to the board.

GROUP OF NEWMARKET BOYS GO TO CAMP

A group of Newmarket boys, under the leadership of Howard Boyd and Lorne McCordick, went to the boys' camp at Alshunyoong, Sibbald's Point, today, for a ten days' holiday. They were Tommy Dales, Gordon Cockburn, Ronald Eves, Ted Duffy, Donald Duffy and Jack Spillette.

DIES BY FARM WHERE HE WAS BORN IN 1874

Member Of Town Council Dies After 11 Years Retirement

At the little cottage at the corner of Hamilton and Pearson Sts., opposite the farm where he was born, George Williams died on Sunday in his 63rd year.

Mr. Williams was a member of Newmarket town council at the time of his death. He had been ill eight weeks.

He was the son of Fanny Toole and George Williams, who farmed what is now the Pickering College farm. Thirty-three years ago he married Matilda B. Brooks, Brooklyn, Ont.

Mr. Williams served with the Salvation Army for 17 years, at various points in Ontario, and finally retired from this work because of ill health.

Mr. and Mrs. Williams went to St. Boswell's, Saskatchewan, in 1903, farming there for 17 years. He served on the municipal council and the school board while in the west, and was sent by his neighbors to Ottawa as a deputat of one member to obtain a railroad. When the railway came, Mr. and Mrs. Williams had the honor of the first ride.

Eleven years ago he returned to Newmarket, to enjoy life beside the farm where he was born. He used to make a daily trip to a spring on the farm to get drinking-water. He has served in the Newmarket town council five terms.

Besides his widow there survive one brother, Alfred, Saginaw, Mich., two sisters, Ida E. Williams, Los Angeles, Cal., and Mrs. James Howard, Newmarket, and a half-sister, Mrs. Geo. Clark, Ingersoll.

Members of the town council attended the funeral service held in the Christian church on Tuesday afternoon. Rev. Dr. W. S. Alexander, Rev. R. L. Casement, Rev. Dr. D. McIntyre and Capt. Jack Batten, of the Salvation Army, took part in the service.

"I am proud that in his early life the Army played some part in shaping his life," said Capt. Batten.

"One of the characteristics that was outstanding in George Williams was his rugged individuality," said Dr. Alexander. "He served for what he could put into his community. He was not swayed by popular opinion. He spoke in plain language. He wasn't just a fair-weather Christian."

Pallbearers were Deputy-Reeve Joseph Vale, Councillors A. D. Evans and Wm. Dixon, Fred Hillaby, Emerson Blair and Alex. McIntosh.

EDGAR BOGART IS UP

Still at York county hospital, Edgar Bogart is getting along nicely and has been up and about the grounds.

RETURNS FROM CAMP

Miss Meeda Williams has returned from the young people's camp at Alshunyoong, Sibbald's Point, where she acted as a leader.

Says Only 20 Speed Charges In 12 Weeks

Cites 23 Main St. Crashes In Six Months As Evidence Of Congestion

Newmarket constables have not been extreme in the number of traffic charges they have been laying, Reeve Dr. L. W. Dales declared in a spirited defence of the police, at the town council meeting Monday evening.

"The two choices of the council, Sloss and Mount, have proved very satisfactory," said Dr. Dales. "For a town of 4,000, there is no better policed town in Ontario. The readiness on the part of the police to do jobs and answer calls is very pleasing."

"Criticism of the court is unfounded," continued Dr. Dales. "It has been stated that the Newmarket police are driving business away from Newmarket. In the last 12 weeks there have been 576 cases of all kinds. Of these 356 have been traffic, and of them 214 speeding. In the last 12 weeks there have been 47 Newmarket cases of all kinds, of which only 20 were for speeding."

"This disposes of any argument

NEWMARKET LAWYER ACTS IN CITY COURT

As assistant crown attorney for York county (including the city of Toronto), N. L. Mathews, K.C., Newmarket, is relieving in one of the city police courts during the month of July. Mr. Mathews is acting in the Newmarket police court on Tuesdays.

that we are trying to make this a revenue court. Repeatedly the police have given warnings, and charges have been laid out on flagrant cases. No charge has been laid for less than 40 miles an hour."

Dr. Dales also presented a six months report from Chief Constable Sloss. During that time Newmarket police have had 44 traffic convictions, of which 27 were for speeding. There have been nine raids "re liquor and stolen goods," and there have been five liquor convictions.

"There have been 23 Main St. accidents," Dr. Dales said. "This is in spite of all that is said about Main St. not being too crowded."

Milk Inspector Finds Lots To Do, Dr. Wesley Reports

Defects Found By Milk Inspector, M. O. H. Informs Council

According to a letter presented to the town council on Monday evening by Dr. J. H. Wesley, M.O.H., J. R. Lockhart, town milk inspector, in his June report mentioned that:

(1) Seven producers had some defective condition in their milk house.

(2) That 11 shippers had defective stabling or drainage.

(3) That there was lack of cleanliness of dress at three of the producers' premises.

(4) That there was one tubercular cow removed from a herd.

(5) That there were two herds with udders not properly clipped.

(6) That there was one sick cow which was removed from the herd.

(7) That there was one place where the milk was improperly chilled before being shipped.

(8) That there was one dairy without a bath in which to keep the pasteurizing piping while not in use.

BINNS RINK WINS

G. A. Binns' rink including Herb Whyte, Bob Large and Steve Rose, won the T. Herbert Lennox trophy in the finals played on Tuesday evening at the local bowling green.

"The farming community is getting considerable free advice from the new milk inspector about their dairy herds and their milk production," said Dr. Wesley.

"The town dairies are regularly inspected by the provincial inspector and are under mandatory order to make necessary alterations and improvements according to the recommendations of the provincial inspector's report, while the local town inspector keeps in close touch with the work and the management of the dairies; but after all the successful operation of an up-to-date, well equipped dairy depends more on the conscientious effort of a well-trained staff of attendants."

Some Water Users Have No Meters, Council Told

Wage Of Angus Morrison, Meter Reader, In- creased To $21

Three hundred dollars will be paid to the Charles Slickwood estate for land on Srigley St. where the new pump-house is erected, it was decided at a town council meeting on Monday evening.

The necessary resolution was moved by Councillors W. W. Osborne and Frank Robinson.

On the recommendation of Councillors Osborne and Robinson, the salary of Angus Morrison, meter-reader, was increased from $19 to $21 a week.

"Can you tell us how many water services there are in town without meters?" Councillor Wm. Dixon asked Mr. Osborne.

"There wouldn't be more than 50," said Mr. Osborne.

"Meters slow down as they get old," said Mr. Dixon. "It's a disadvantage having the public own their own meters. We are losing a lot of money."

"That policy was decided on when Col. Allen was mayor," said Mr. Osborne. "Dr. Boyd was chairman of the water and light committee."

"There is a by-law requiring people to keep the meters in good condition," N. L. Mathews, K. C., clerk and solicitor, informed the council. "The meter-reader is supposed to check up on the meters and leave cards telling people to get them fixed."

DAUGHTER RECEIVES SPLENDID MARK

J. O. LITTLE HANDS COUNCIL CHEQUE FOR $1,000

A magnificent gift of $1,000 was given to the town this week, for use at the fair grounds, by Fred Orpen, Toronto, in fulfillment of a promise made by his father, Abe Orpen (2), before his death. Mr. Orpen (1) was a Newmarket Srigley. J. O. Little, through whom the gift was made, suggests that the fair grounds be named Srigley Park.

SPAIN AND ALL THAT

This fellow Chamberlain, prime minister of Britain, has made us boil on several occasions, and we therefore have great pleasure in expressing agreement with some recent utterances on the subject of bombing British ships in Spanish territorial waters. We have expressed the opinion that Mr. Chamberlain in condoning the acts of Italy in Ethiopia and the interference of Germany in Czechoslovakia, and generally throwing away the League of Nations covenant, is making a mistake. Nevertheless, we may yet find it necessary to admit that Mr. Chamberlain knows what he is doing. Mr. Chamberlain is now doing pioneer work in breaking down patriotic traditions inherited from the days of King Arthur. One of these ideas is that innocent and harmless citizens of any nation ought to go to war to defend the money interests of fellow citizens, so long as the adventures of their fellow citizens fall short of piracy.

Only Reasonable

Mr. Chamberlain says: "We gave warning to British shipowners that while we intended to give them full protection as long as their ships were on the high seas, we could not undertake to protect them after they had entered territorial waters in a zone of fighting, and we said that because we could not do so without a considerable risk of being involved in war. The risk that these ships run literally means that the rate for freight is very high, and shipowners are getting four and five times the ordinary rates for voyages to these ports. If these shipowners still send their ships to these waters and get bombed, is it reasonable that the government should be asked to take an action that might at present involve not only them, but you, in the horrors of war—and you not getting any profits at all?"

Concerns Us

It seems to us that in this particular Mr. Chamberlain is pursuing a sane, although possibly unpopular, course. And what Mr. Chamberlain does today may determine what the rest of us do tomorrow.

SERVED WELL

The death of George Williams leaves an empty chair at the town council table. He gave the town a lot of good service, and as chairman of the relief committee for a year or two did a great deal of worrying and a great deal of work for his fellow citizens. He laughed heartily and lived happily.

STILL HAVE SOMETHING FINE

The yearly meeting of Friends was held at Pickering College last week. There are not a great many real Quakers in this district now, nor indeed in Ontario, but many, many families of this district have Quaker blood in their veins. It is said that the Quaker denomination has grown weaker instead of stronger because of the lack of professional ministers. However that may be, there is still a really worth-while message in "plain living and high thinking" in Quakerism for all of us, and those who attended any of the meetings at Pickering College, which were open to the public, found real help in the addresses. In addition, Quaker peace teachings have become practical politics in the world of today.

KNOTHOLE (SWIMMING-HOLE) CLUB

Human nature is the same the whole world over. We all feel that the law doesn't apply to us. Everybody feels that he should be an exception. The other fellow ought not to drive fast—he's reckless. It's all right for us to drive fast—we are in a hurry. It's the same way when we go to the ball game. We feel there is no good reason why we should pay admittance. Besides, we paid last time. Besides, we root hard for the team. Why should we have to pay? If the rest pay, everything will be all right. So it happened at the last meeting of the Acton village council, as reported by the Acton Free Press, that:

It was pointed out that the ball club was having difficulty in collecting gate receipts for ball games. Persons were making the excuse to use the bathing facilities at the park and then in a number of cases viewing the game. It was agreed the ball club should have complete privileges to close the park an hour prior to and during the game time, with rights to collect admission fees from all entering.

YOUTH AT THE HELM

The Bowmanville Statesman declares that young people "are just as good and probably a whole lot better than they were years past." "Right in this small section of Ontario we had students passing difficult university courses with honors, and no less than two winning scholarships." "No, frankly, we don't think the young people are going to the dogs. They may cuss a little more, and perhaps even drink a little more, but their hearts and their minds are right, and they'll keep the old ship on a far straighter course than some of us imagine." We think the Statesman is right, but we doubt very much whether it is those who "drink a little more" who are winning the scholarships, or will keep the old ship straight.

A NEW CRIME

Lots of publishers would like to see it made a crime for people not to advertise. First support for this point of view which we have seen comes from a Walkerton magistrate who ruled that finding articles on the street and not advertising them to locate the owner is in itself a crime. Privately, we doubt if the magistrate is right, if correctly reported. The finder took the articles found on the street and buried them in his garden. We see how the magistrate could come pretty close to building up a case of theft. There is lots of what the lawyers call "mens rea" (guilty mind) in this case. There has to be some of this "mens rea" stuff to make a crime, but there are lots of people who don't advertise who must harbor "mens rea" but they aren't criminals, just a little less successful than they might be.

WATER PROBLEMS

The town of Bowmanville has a utilities commission which has recently provided the town with new sources of water supply. Apparently the utilities commission just went ahead on its own initiative and spent the necessary money, and will explain details of financing later. The commission has a surplus of $2,000 a year, and states that this will take care of financing. No increase in water rates will be necessary. Up to the present the town has been bringing its water from the Skinner Springs at Tyrone, how far from Bowmanville we don't know. This source supplies 185 gallons per minute, which would be sufficient to supply the town if consumption were even, but the peak consumption runs as high as 420,000 gallons a day, more than the storage tanks can take care of. The 185 gallons a minute provide 275,000 gallons a day. Two new wells, both apparently outside the town, will put the supply up to 335 gallons per minute.

WHO WILL PAY THE BILL?

Now there is talk of additional staff to man the new police office. Magistrate Woodliffe said on Tuesday that people would be able to go to the police office and lay complaints, and that outside police would be able to bring their prisoners there at night and leave them. If another officer is necessary, he will be as much a servant of other municipalities as he will be of Newmarket and his salary should be regarded as an expense of the court.

A VISIT TO A PLANETARIUM

(Contributed by Leonard Harman, King)

It is indeed fortunate that the great city of Chicago has a highway running along the waterfront and missing the main traffic. For 100 miles there is almost continuous city around the southwestern edge of Lake Michigan. Numerous suburbs stretch from Gary, Indiana, with its humble dwellings of unemployed negro steel workers, to miles of mansions near Waukegan, Illinois. Between stand the skyscrapers of a great city, said to be ten times as large as Toronto.

Lurid tales of gangsters have made us think of machine gun battles when we hear the name of Chicago. But the only harm we suffered was when we sought to investigate one of the underground streets. Descending the stairs from the street above, I ran my hand down the railing and when I raised it there was a covering of soot as black as tar. Deliver us from such a region! We did not visit the Chicago slums because we felt they could not be worse than those in New York which we had seen two years ago.

It was nearly noon on Saturday when we reached the Loop. After a brief visit at the offices of the American Farm Bureau Federation, we started to view points of interest. The Marshall Field department store is like those in Toronto, but greater and grander. They must carry an inventory running into millions of dollars. So far as we could see there was nothing of a bargain nature and very little in the low price field. Apparently it is maintained by the patronage of the richer classes.

A great stretch of park lies between the business section and the waterfront. There stand the aquarium and the museum of natural history. No less than 23 people have donated at least $100,000 of their surplus wealth to this great educational institution. Half an hour was all too little to study there.

On a strip of land jutting out into the lake stands the Adler Planetarium, the gift of a wealthy gentleman, to advance science and "to emphasize that under the great celestial firmament there is order, interdependence and unity." We were fortunate to arrive just when the planetarium was to go into action. Through the cool shade of its hall we were ushered into a circular chamber with seating capacity for 600 people. The ceiling was hemispherical in form, with the Chicago skyline depicted at the horizon, where ceiling and walls met. On the west were the skyscrapers, on the east some boats on the surface of Lake Michigan.

In the centre of the chamber was mounted a huge instrument shaped like a dumb-bell. From the spheres at the ends of it were to come lights, which, when projected on the ceiling, would re-enact in miniature the movements of the heavenly bodies. At the hour appointed a woman mounted a small platform and explained in a clear voice the nature of the educational feature which was to come. Then the lights were dimmed and we sat under a starry sky.

Not only did the sun rise and set and the moon and stars appear over Chicago. Our hostess took us in an hour on a journey to the Arctic circle and finally to the north pole. For a few minutes we were in the fairyland of the midnight sun and of aurora borealis. As we sat watching the great drama there grew in us a religious awe of the immensity of this great universe in which two of God's myriad creatures have ventured but 1,000 miles across one of His spinning spheres.

COUNTY COUNCIL

Dr. Dales calls our attention to Hon. Eric Cross's declaration against the abolition of county councils. Mr. Cross is reported to have "ridiculed" suggestions that Ontario is over-governed. He said that any plan to eliminate county councils would be unworkable and impractical. County councils, he said, had given efficient government, and he is reported to have said that "their greatest handicap had been the tremendous demands made upon them by the taxpayers." Mr. Cross might as easily have said that the tremendous expenditures of county councils are made because their members are not elected direct and because their funds are not raised direct. There is also an objection to York county council in that it is situated outside the municipality of the county of York, and is beyond the scrutiny of the public and press of its own constituency. This may be remedied in time.

The Common Round

By Isabel Inglis Colville
CHOIRS

A good many people travelling along the road between youth and old age, have at some time in their lives sung in a choir, and until the last few years, the Sundays which saw my better half and I absent from our choir seats, were few and far between.

Friend husband's choir experience began as a boy chorister in the old land, but mine began in an Anglican church in a small town.

No enthusiasm on my part, or on that of the organist, marked my entry into the choir world. I was young and didn't see why I should give up an evening to choir practice, and I think the organist loathed us all. He had come from England full of enthusiasm, and being used to people who loved to sing, he couldn't understand our indifferent attitude.

"Your voice is contralto," said he, after hearing me wander languidly and protestingly up and down a scale or two.

"But I'd rather sing soprano," I informed him, decidedly.

"Maybe you'd rather, but you're not going to, my good child," said he, even more decidedly.

"Mother!" I roared, as I stamped into her sitting room, "do I really have to sing in the choir?"

"Why not?" asked mother, but a determined voice came from the doorway as my father said in no uncertain tones, "I promised Mr. Holland you'd sing in the choir, so you may as well make the best of it."

"Alto too, more practice," I muttered rebelliously, "practise piano, practise violin, study this, study that."

However, needless to say, I went to choir practice, and I sang alto—no, I tried to sing alto. My efforts must have been agony to the alto who sat on one side of me, and a source of utter confusion to the soprano on the other side. But by degrees, as my reading improved and interest grew, a love of choir work was implanted in my being, which grew with my growth.

I do not think that people who have never done any choir work can half appreciate the difficulties which beset a choir master where all the singers are volunteers and amateurs.

The choir master MUST have whatever music the service requires, but where he has no paid soloist or quartet, he is utterly dependent on people on whom only a moral obligation rests, to be present. Sometimes the obligation rests pretty lightly and confusion reigns, if a certain section of the choir be conspicuous by its absence.

In no organization is there such need for "esprit de corps," as in a choir, for only as the members work in harmony with one another and with the conductor, can results be obtained.

I have known choir members who resented what they termed "the dictatorial attitude of the conductor," but if he isn't in complete control of his singers, he might as well give up—he'll get nowhere.

All this came to me forcibly as I sat in the arena in Aurora, last Saturday evening and listened to the Mendelssohn choir. There were about 200 of them, I fancy, and yet they were as well controlled as one voice; they were magnetized and the magnet was the personality and baton of Dr. Fricker.

The four parts were like four magnificently played instruments; there was a pipe organ quality in the bass section which I have never heard equalled, and which made a foundation sure and beautiful for the other three parts to rest on.

The wonderful cohesion of tone and effortless lifting to climaxes were something to think back on with delight.

The program was so varied as to suit every taste—and with each number one felt more and more, the utter mastery which a music-filled genius can exert over his choir and audience.

Each number, whether as familiar as "Annie Laurie," or "Drink to me only," or some heard less often, gave such a sense of fulfilment and satisfaction, that the memory will go with us till we have an opportunity to hear the choir again.

CHIPS TAKES A SUMMER RAMBLE

BY RUTH DINGMAN HEBB

"Everywhere I go these days, I run into a Goldfinch," said Young Chips, to his friend, Goldie Goldfinch.

"Well, we're nice people, aren't we?" answered his friend.

"Oh, very," agreed Young Chips. "You have nice dispositions and not only that, but you're lovely to look at. There's something about your bright gold feathers flashing in the sun that seems to represent the very spirit of summer."

"You are getting poetic," laughed Goldie, with a flirt of his tail. He swooped over to a big Scotch thistle, whose purple blossoms set off his handsome black and yellow coat. "Well, I must be getting back to my nest. My wife will be wanting me."

"How is it that I see so many Goldfinches gallivanting around in couples just now?" asked Chips. "I shouldn't think you'd both like to leave your eggs that long."

"Why, lots of my relatives haven't even laid their eggs yet," said Goldie. "This is only the second day in July and although my wife and I are already nesting, lots of the others aren't."

"There's a Kingbird over on the fence," said Young Chips. "I think I'll be going. I don't care much for Kingbirds. If you go anywhere near their nests they think you are going to harm their family and start chasing you. I don't want him to start chasing me now."

"Oh, I wouldn't worry," said Goldie, as he turned to go back to his nest. "His children will be pretty big now, probably a good deal bigger than a harmless little Chickadee like you."

"Harmless, indeed," called Young Chips after him. "I'm not afraid of anyone—at least hardly anyone."

"Heaven's!" he was exclaiming to himself a few seconds later. "What in the world was that? Oh, it was only a Flicker. The way he rose so suddenly from the ground made me think that he was some bigger bird and scared me dreadfully."

"I'm glad Goldie didn't see me jump when I saw that Flicker or he would think that I was a scaredy-cat," he muttered to himself.

"Ho, ho, there's someone that's even more timid than I am," he said as he looked down at the road. On the edge of the road a young Cottontail Rabbit was "freezing," as a car passed very near him. Then the little brown fellow darted into the field for all he was worth.

"There certainly isn't as much noise in the fields now as there was in May and June," mused Young Chips as he drew nearer home. "The birds aren't singing the same way at all. Once the nesting season is pretty well finished, the best part of their singing is over."

"Look where you're going, young fellow, can't you?" he said a moment later as he alighted on a branch, only to stumble over someone. "You certainly weren't on this branch when I started for it, a second ago."

"No, I wasn't, sir," squeaked a young Robin. "It was very careless of me to get in your way, I'm sure. I didn't see you coming."

"One of the first principles of safety is to look where you are going," lectured Young Chips. "That is what I teach my own children."

"Well, I've only been out of the nest two days," said the Robin, "so I'm a little inexperienced as yet. I'm a second brood Robin, you know."

"Yes, I can see that you are quite young," answered Young Chips. "And here comes your Mother."

"Didn't I see you jostling my child on that branch?" asked the Robin lady indignantly. "I should think you would be ashamed to treat such a young bird in such a rough manner. You might easily have knocked him off the branch and injured him badly. Come on, dear," she said to the little Robin. "We'll go over to this other tree and leave that bully alone."

"Well, of all things," spluttered Young Chips. "I certainly didn't intend to do any harm to that young chap. But sometimes even the most harmless actions, or the most utterly accidental occurrences are misunderstood. The world is certainly a queer place. And people are very touchy as far as their children are concerned."

"This is a first offence and I don't believe in sending a man down for a first offence," stated Magistrate W. F. Woodliffe in regard to a 16-year-old Newmarket boy, in police court on Tuesday.

"On the charge of taking a car without the owner's consent, I will impose sentence of seven days to date back to last week. I will remand him on the other three charges for sentence and place him on probation for one year. He must report to the probation officer every week."

Bail was set at $200 for Roderick Ward, Aurora, charged with driving while intoxicated, and reckless driving. He was remanded one week.

A charge of reckless driving laid against Gordon Leyden, Toronto, was dismissed by the magistrate, as he said Leyden had suffered enough with a broken arm, broken shoulder, and his jaw broken in two places, and no other car was involved in the accident.

A charge of having liquor in an illegal place was changed to consuming and Leslie E. Clark was fined $10 and costs or ten days, and the liquor was ordered to be confiscated.

The magistrate dismissed a charge of peddling beverages at cottages on Lake Simcoe against the Home Beverage Service, Toronto. The proprietor testified that all orders were placed at the Toronto office and delivered only to customers.

A fine of $15 and costs of $21.50, or 15 days, was imposed on William Mands, Toronto, and his driver's license was cancelled for 30 days.

According to evidence given by Mr. Mands, he turned out of the line of traffic going south and a car ahead also turned out. Then Mands said he struck the car, driven by Leonard Peacock, Orillia, going north.

As a result of the accident, the 11 occupants of the Peacock and Mands cars were all taken to the hospital.

After a hearing that lasted nearly two hours the magistrate reserved judgment for one week on the two charges of driving while intoxicated and reckless driving laid against Jack H. Carly, Toronto. Carly was represented by Salter Hayden, K.C., Toronto.

"I followed the car driven by Carly through Aurora," testified Provincial Constable Alex. Ferguson. "Carly was going south about 15 m. p. h. He put my motorcycle over to the left curb and in a distance of less than two blocks he put two trucks and two cars onto the shoulder of the road. I had some difficulty in getting the car stopped and when I took him to Dr. Devins' office I had to help him out of the car. After the examination Carly fell asleep twice going to the jail farm and had no idea where he was going."

"On examining this man I found that his eyes were heavy, there was no sense to his talk and in my opinion he was in an unfit condition to drive a car," stated Dr. C. J. Devins, Aurora. "Did you know Carly had frontal sinus trouble and that he had five operations?" questioned Mr. Hayden.

"No," answered Dr. Devins. "Could his condition at the time you examined him be caused from this trouble?"

"I don't know," Dr. C. N. Mooney, coroner for Toronto, was first witness for the defence. He testified that the standard set by the British Medical Society for determining whether a man is intoxicated or not was a blood or urine test. Unless the test shows 1.05 per cent alcohol, the man is not intoxicated. Dr. Mooney believed this was the only fair test in such cases.

Other witnesses for the defence were Robert Stuart Leishman and the accused, Jack Carly.

"I don't think anything less than intoxication would permit a conviction," stated Mr. Hayden.

"I don't feel that I wish to give judgment on a point that has some significance," the magistrate said, while reserving judgment for a week.

On a charge of reckless driving, Kenneth Maynard, Aurora, was fined $10 and costs, or ten days. Clifford Case represented Maynard.

Three other motorists were each fined $10 and costs, or ten days, on reckless driving charges. Those fined were Beauchamp Howe, Toronto; Robert May, Toronto, and Thomas A. Ross, Toronto.

Osten Transport, Orillia, excess load of cattle, $26.50 and costs, or 20 days.

Murray Wray, Tottenham, no operator's permit, $10 and costs. Theodore Brown, speeding, $15 and costs.

Herbert Lowe, Newmarket, bad brakes, $10 and costs, or 10 days.

Alvin Taylor, Toronto, speeding, $6 and costs.

B. & R. Motors, Guelph, speeding, $8 and costs, or eight days.

Sutton West

Many changes in connection with light horses and jumpers are contained in the preliminary list of the Sutton horse show and fair being held this year on Aug. 4, 5 and 6, which was issued this week. Outstanding among these is the new ruling in the "touch-and-out" stake. The rules have been changed so as to include five horses in the final trial instead of a maximum of three horses, as had previously been the case.

Among the new classes is the George H. Hunt award, which is presented to the amateur gaining the greatest number of points in the three days.

The order of the steeplechases, which are held on all three days of the show, has been changed to put the Uplands Cup, donated by Alfred Rogers, first, with the Maryvale cup, donated by Senator Frank P. O'Connor, for the second day. The silver cup will be awarded the winner in the Saturday competition.

The pony classes for children are completely revised for this year's show by Chairman R. E. Whitewood and his committee, and in this class stallions are eligible in some sections for the first time at the Sutton show.

The classes, which include school children's work and ladies' work, have been increased according to officials. A flower show is being held this year to replace the dog show which attracted so much attention last year. According to good authority this year's show and fair is expected to be the most elaborate and popular on record. The officers for the year are: president, Wilnot J. Lake; secretary, Gilbert S. Whitney; and manager, W. L. Scott. The prize lists will be issued shortly, it was learned.

The couple were unattended. The bride's mother received in a gown of black sheer, assisted by the groom's mother in a gown of navy blue sheer.

The toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. J. B. Kay, uncle of the bride, and was responded to very nicely by the bridegroom.

FIRE DESTROYS UPPER STORIES

Getting a long start on the firemen, a fire did extensive damage to the home of Dr. T. J. Hackett on Park Ave. early Sunday morning. Damage was estimated at $3,000. A large crowd turned out to see the fire.

The alarm was rung in at 3:30 a.m. by Harry Hodge, who was passing the house, from a nearby box. He also roused the residents of neighboring houses.

Dr. Hackett, Mrs. Hackett and two children had left at 12:30 a.m. with Ross Weeks, to go to Cannington.

It is thought that the fire was caused by defective wiring, as the fire apparently started in the ceiling of the second floor.

Constable Kenneth Mount had the fire truck on the street, when Cyrus Curtis arrived at the fire hall, with the result that the truck was at the fire within a few minutes after the call was sounded.

With two lines of hose, Fire Chief W. W. Osborne, Joseph Brammar and James Thompson, lieutenants, and a full attendance of firemen fought the fire and held it to the upper part of the brick-clad house. The ground floor was practically untouched by fire.

The fire-out whistle sounded at 5 a.m. Absence of a wind made it easier for the firemen to keep the fire

DISEASE BROUGHT IN ON POTATOES

There recently arrived in Toronto, a shipment of 46 cars of new potatoes from Virginia, many of which under inspection, showed bacterial soft rot ranging from 25 to 65 per cent when examined in Toronto. Distribution of much of this stock had been made in practically every city and town in Ontario before the seriousness of development of rot was known. According to plant pathologists and bacteriologists at the O.A.C., Guelph, and literature from the departments of agriculture in Canada and the U.S., gardeners, tomato growers and potato growers are advised to prevent any of these diseased potatoes or seedlings from them, being thrown carelessly around barns or yards or into composts which may be used for spreading on the land as fertilizer, as infection may be spread to the soil and become active in future crops.

The co-operation of vegetable distributors is solicited in assisting in the destruction by burning, boiling or burying deeply as many of these infected potatoes as possible. In co-operation with the Dominion and Ontario departments of agriculture and the Ontario Agricultural College, the Toronto department of health is ordering the complete destruction of these diseased cult potatoes.
